The New Yorks were defeated by Tim Hurst's Bt. Louis team yesterday because they couldn't hit Esper's curves. They are now in fifth place. The defeat isn't very damaging, however, as three of the other four leaders were beaten, too. The Cincinnatis were outplayed by the Bostons In another close game, the Baltimores suscumbed to the Pittsburgs and the Clevelands surren-dered to the Philadelphias. The latter are tied with Pittsburg for sixth place. The Washingtons won another ball from the Chicagos and gained considerably on the Louisvilles, whose game with the Brooklyns was prevented by rain,

"Bill" Jackson, the famous catcher of the old Cuban Giants, is now doing the backstop work for the Greater New York Colored Giants, and Miller, who faces him in the pitcher's box, is a new star in the colored baseball world. Harvard's Second 'Varsity Crew Disbauded. CAMBRIDGE, May 20.—The plan of taking the second 'varsity crew to New London was dissipated this afternoon, when Coach Lebmann selected G. D. Marvin, '99, J. F. Perkins, '99, H. A. Adams, '98, and J. D. Kernan, 1900, as 'varsity substitutes and informed the rest of the crew that their services would be ne longer required. This is the end of the elaborate boating schedule announced for this year, and, as an absolute fact. Harvard's boating is in no better condition than it was when the 'varsity crew left for Poughkeepsie last year. Manager Gillder was not sure when the crew would go to New London, but said that it would be on June 4 or 11, probably the latter date.

Henry Willis left to-day for England to take his place at 7 in the Leander crew which is getting in shape for the annual Henley regatia, Capt. Perkins, his brother, took his place in the 'varsity boat for the day.

Cricket.

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—On a batting wicket at Manheim to-day Pennsylvania walloped Harvard in the annual game for the intercollegiate champlonship. It was a one-inning context, Pennsylvania won by 173 to 82. The Quakers played quite well, while the visitors were stiff and did not move like cricketers. For Pennsylvania, Lynford Biddle, the international player, made a well-constructed 67, offering one difficult chance. Jones, the wicket keeper of the colts. came next with 31. Carleton and Dove made half of Harvard's score. Hastings took 87 wickets for Harvard.

Last Day of the Reliogs Sale.

Peter C. Kellogg's spring sale of trotters ended yes-terday at Duriand's hidding Academy. Among the offerings was the thirteen year-old bay mare Utility, $118, by Electioneer, out of Consolation by Dictator, wined by J. Marchim Forbes. He paid $2,000 for her in 1845, and she was once sold at auction for upward of $5,000 when one year old. Charles F. Figge, a well-known incoking horseman, bought her yester-day for $300. Few high prices were realized at the last day's sale. The best figures follow:

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN. ARTHUR GARDINER LEADS IN THE

MATIONAL CRAMPIONSHIPS. Wonderful Mile Said to Have Been Ridden hy S. Pinti-Botts on the Cafford Track-Club Pixtures for To-Morrow-An English Bider Thinks Toddy Edwards Will Patt.

Before Brooklyn became a part of the greater city a municipal ordinance was passed requir-ing trolley cars to come to a full stop before crossing an asphalted thoroughfare. This was ordinance is still observed in the borough. It would be a great comfort to riders if the same ordinance was in effect in Manhattan. The law applies only to trolley cars, and this gives to the drivers of light wagons and empty ice carts a rare chance to enjoy themselves. If there is one thing, more than excessively hot weather, that delights an iceman it is to have his wager empty and rattle through the streets at a lively clip. The fact that he does not have to halt or even slow up at asphalt crossings is a great thing for him. It is the one point at which he rises superior to the trolley oar. He is not afraid of his ice wagon or his horses being hurt by col-lision with a bicycle, and he has a sublime confidence in the ability of cyclists to avoid him He likes to see them dodge and scurry from under the noses of his borses. He would not like to be arrested for manslaughter, and has no intention of really running down a wheelman, but he has seen so many of them do "stunts" and successfully evade him that he thinks there is no limit to what a rider can do in the way of dodging. This idea of the iceman seems to be shared by the drivers of many different kinds of vehicles. They do not realize that it is their own reckless disregard of the rights of bicycles that has forced riders to learn how to dodge, halt, and dismount quickly. With the menace of being speedily crushed to death staring him in the face, a man can instantly learn how to do many things that he never before attempted, and riders who travel a great deal through city atreets sometimes perform feats of trick riding under the fear of death that it would take them a week to learn on a board floor with an in-structor. It is the cleverness on the part of some riders that is responsible for the belief of the jebus that every wheelman is like a will-o'-thewisp and cannot be run down. The belief is responsible for many fatalities, and a law requiring all vehicles to slacken speed at asphalt crossings would unquestionably be a boon.

This year the professional national championships of the L. A. W. are figured in a different way than they were in past seasons. The standard distances for which championships are recognized are: Quarter mile, third of a mile, half mile, one mile, two miles, and five miles. Champions at the various distances are determined by the number of points won in the national championship races. At least one national championship race must be run on every day a national circuit meet is held. It may be at any of the distances named. The first man to finish in the final is credited with six points in the championship table, the next with four, the next with three, the next with two, and the fifth with one, except at the national meet, when the men are credited with sixty, forty, thirty, twonty, and ten points respectively. At the end of the season the rider having the largest number of points will be declared the champion. The record to date, three meets having been run, is as follows: Arthur Gardiner, 15; O. L. Stevens, 9; Jay Eston, 8; A. C. Mertens, 5; Floyd Mc-Farland, 4; Nat Butler, 3; J. B. Bowler, 2; W. E. Becker, 2. All of these men will ride to-day at the Quill Club meet at Manhattan Beach, but they are apt to have a more difficult task than at the Drevlous circuit meets, as Eddie Bald, Tom Cooper, H. B. Freeman, Tom Butler, and several other first raters, who have not been fellowing that any organization of wheelmen

Nothing that any organization of wheelmen ever has done has gone so far toward creating a kindly feeling on the part of horsemen for cyclists as the graciousness with which the L.A. W. Consulate announced that bicyclists would not demand road rights on the new Harlem River Speedway. The horsemen are now engaged getting subscriptions to a petition to the Park Commissioner favoring the exclusion of wheelmen from the speedway. In the office of one man who owns a team of trotting horses that are famous the world over, the signatures of fitteen members of the L.A. W. were obtained. The first wheelman who refused to sign was a man well known in cycling circles, but not a League member. After his refusal a mock meeting was held in the horseman's office and resolutions were cassed to the effect that all the roads in the Park should be paved with narrow planks like a cycle track, the lakes asphalted, and that the horsemen should take to the trees.

Advices from England announce that J. PlattBetts, the English professional, has reduced the one-mile world's paced record to 1 minute 35 seconds. Confirmation of this report will entitle Platt-Betts to the credit of riding the fastest paced mile in cycle history. Last season E. C.
MoDuffle of Boston and J. W. Stocks of England made several attempts to bring the one-mile record down to the lowest possible figures, and each rode in 1 minute 35 2-5 seconds.
With the expert pacing crews that it is expected will develop this year it seems likely that some of the American sprint riders will make repeated attempts to lower Platt-Betts's record.
The latter, it is claimed, lowered the rocord on the Calford track and was timed by Pembroke The latter, it is claimed, lowered the fecord on the Calford track and was timed by Pembroka Coleman, the official timekeeper of the N. C. U. The attempt of Teddy Edwards of the Century Wheelmen of this city to ride 100 miles daily for 365 consecutive days has excited wide-spread interest among wheelmen throughout the world. Since Jan. 1 Edwards has ridden 100 miles every day, and maintains that he is now in excellent health and confident of accomplishing his ambition. In England, where all American track and road performances are criticized severely, there is a general feeling that Edwards will hardly succeed in keeping up his present schedule. A prominent English rider, who has revewed his performances, makes the following declaration:

schedule. A prominent English rider, who has revewed his performances, makes the following declaration:

"It is hard to prophesy concerning such a ride, but ishould judge the toil to be beyond the powers of human endurance. A hundred miles in the day is nothing, but a hundred miles per day for every day in the week, Sundays included, through all four seasons of the year is a prodigious task. I presume he is being adequately checked on a better system than that which has disgraced many of the so-called century rides in the States. I also understand that he has so far succeeding that the year is young yet. A wave of heat in midsummer or a real blizard next Christmas might stop him, and even if the conditions of the ride were that he should average a hundred miles a day, instead of doing a hundred with the limit of each succeeding twenty-four hours. I do not think his chances would be any rosier. An infinite staleness is certain to creep over him, and even if weather permits, his own physical condition will probably condemn him to failure. It is a rievous example of the abase of cycling and a task of drudgery of a colossal nature. This feat as a man test will, if successful, certainly do harm to the rider. A long trip occasionally is enjoyable, but the monotony of a hundred a day all the year round must be unendurable, and I believe will prove imposeinte. If a man claimed to do sixty or seventy hundreds in the year he would be looked on as exceptional, but this man expects to do this and 300 more such rides as well. He won't get through."

Travis Makes a New Record on the Enell-

wood Country Club Links. Some splendid golf was seen yesterday on the picturesque links of the Knollwood Country Club. The features were a new record made by Travis, the twenty-hole match won by Grant, a newcomer in these parts, and the close games in which Thehaud was beaten and E. Leavitt won. Incidentally, J. L. Taylor, a Brooklyn player, made his mark as a sturdy fighter. Taking the important event, the Archbold Cup match, first, the results to be chronicled were that W. J. Travis, Oakland, beat C. M. Hamilton by 7 up and 5 to play; Patrick Grant, Palmetto, beat W. T. Grey, St. Andrew's, by 7 up and 6 to play, and J. L. Taylor, Dyker Meadow, beat C. B. Van Brunt by 2 up. Travis and C. Hamilton had not met before since the public competition at Van Cortlandt since the public competition at van Cortandt Park, which was won by the latter. The fea-ture of yeaterday's match was the low score made by Travis. It was evident from the first tee that he was striving to beat the 79 he made in the qualifying round on Thursday. Travis did this, as the appended cards show, and, as every hole was played out, his score was really as important as though made in a medal-play round:

Travis ... 4 5 4 5 5 4 4 8 4—98 C. Hamilton ... 5 5 5 6 6 5 5 8 4—44 Trav s ... 5 8 4 4 4 5 7 3 4—99—77 C. Hamilton ... 6 8 6 4 5 5 5 4—41—85 *All bye boles.

Taylor and Van Brunt had met last in the chempionships of the Crescent A. C. last fall, when the latter won by a single hole. This gave an added interest to their match yesterday, which in detail was:

In the Consolation semi-finals Slocum beat A. G. Hamilton of Baltimore by 5 up and 4 to play, and E. Leavitt won in commanding style from P. B. Cooke of Harbor Hill, by 5 up and 3 to play. The cards:

*All bye holes. To-day, besides the thirty-six-hole handicap for the Knollwood Challenge Cup, Travis will meet Grant in the Archbold Cup finals, and E. Leavitt and Slocum will play in the Consolation

The first half of the professional match be tween Willie Park, Jr., of Musselburgh and Willie Fernie of Troon was decided yesterday. Wille Fernie of Troon was decided yesterday. The match is for $5.00 a side, at thirty-six holes, on each green. Both are ex-champions of Great Britain, and great interest was taken in yesterday's meeting by the amateur and professional golfers abroad and in this country. Park beat Fernie by 7 up. The second half will be played on June 3 at Troon on a course on which Fernie has never been beaten in a match.

Aside from the Knollwood open tourney there vill be team matches or club competitions to day on nearly all links in the M. G. A. district, day on nearly all links in the M. G. A. district, Perhaps the most important will be the annual match between the Richmond County Country Club and the St. Andrew's Golf Club of Mount Hope. The Richmond County team will be represented by John R. Chadwick, G. E. Armstrong, L. B. Stoddart, A. E. Paterson, James Park, J. C. Rennard, Charles T. Stout, Charles Stewart, W. A. Hamilton, and E. D. Crowell.

College Men Mest.

No protests were received among the 650 entries for the Intercollegiate Athletic Association's annual games up to last night at the meeting of the council, which was held in the Fifth Avenue Hotel. The subject of the proposed protest against Wefers, which has been discussed to some extent in athletic circles, was carefully avoided, and Delegate Kendrick of U. of P. stated that it was now too late to make a formal protest against him. It is possible, however, to lodge a protest still before the race, in which event the dyer will start and the objection will be considered afterward.

The subject of advantageous postibles was discussed, and drawings for the pole in the 100, 230, 440 and 880 yard russ resulted in each of the principal colleges obtaining the coveted blaces in turn in the various races. Further than these four events it was decided that the colleges should alternate in the subsequent events in the pole place. The next meeting of the council, and the final one before the game, will be held next Friday morning, at 10 o'clock, at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. has been discussed to some extent in athletic circles,

Ngw Haves, May 20.—No New England chemptonship tennis tournament will be held this year. It was scheduled to take place next week, but lack of entires and interest led the Governing Beard to abandon the matches, which have not been omitted in fitten years. The board were in doubt whether to hold the tournament or not till Thomas Driscell, last year's champion, wrote that he did not care to defend his title.

There was some excellent play in the annual spring lawn tennis tournament of the Fraemus Hail High School yesterday. The summary:

Men's Doubles—Third Round—Harrison and Andrews defeated Dennison and Orimwood, S.-S. S.-S.

S.-S. Final Bound—Harrison and Andrews defeated Newbegin and Teves, 4-5, 6-2, 6-3.

Women's Doubles—Second Hound—Hisse Reil and Hegie defeated Mass. Many and Enterprise.
